JOY AND GLOOM
GREET ILLINOIS
VOTE IN CAPITAL

Even Wets Find Hope
in Boxing Bill.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—The results of the Illinois primary furnished Washington today with a political sensation of the first magnitude. They were widely proclaimed as straws showing which way the wind is blowing in the contest for control of the congress which is now getting under way and will terminate with the November elections.

Omnes of important coming events were found in the returns by almost every group of public men ranging from those who think the defeat of Senator McKinley forecasts a national repudiation of the Coolidge administration on the world court and other issues to the wets who detect in the Chicago referendum in favor of boxing exhibitions a popular revolt against all sundry laws.

Repudiation of Court.
Leaders of the opposition to the entry of the United States into the world court point to the defeat of Senator McKinley in a primary in which his vote for the world court was the main issue as proof that Illinois Republicans repudiate not only the action of their senators in supporting the world court resolution, but the cause of President Coolidge in advocating it and the Republican platform of 1924 in endorsing it.

The anti-world court leaders believe that the sentiment in Illinois on the question is indicative of the sentiment of the wet, if not of the entire country, and that it portends the defeat of numerous other candidates for reelection to the senate who voted for the world court measure.

Senators Borah [Rep., Idaho] and Reed [Dem., Mo.] hailed the results in Illinois as the first victory in their fight to retire the senators who put us into the court and to elect senators who will take us out of the court eventually. They announced that, encouraged by the Illinois triumph, they would wage their fight with redoubled vigor.

How Does Coolidge Stand?

Anti-administration leaders think they detect in the defeat of an administration senator by an opponent who attacked the administration record on an important issue a turning of the tide of popularity from Mr. Coolidge. If the Republicans of other states are in the same mood as those of Illinois it will not be long, it is suggested, before opponents of Mr. Coolidge for re-election in 1928 will be appearing.

The understanding here is that the victory of Col. Smith over Senator McKinley and the defeat of Senator Deacon's organization in Cook county strengthens the anti-administration Republicans in Illinois and places them in a position to round up a sizeable block of anti-Coolidge delegates to the 1928 Republican national convention.

The anti-Coolidge element in Illinois is expected to get behind Senator Borah for the Republican nomination for President, and by many politicians the triumph of Borah's cause in the Illinois primary is regarded as launching the Idaho senator as a candidate for the presidency.

Glooms at White House.

There was gloom at the White House over the victory of the anti-world court cause in Illinois, but no comment was forthcoming. Some of those close to the President professed to find some comfort in the fact that most of the congressmen nominated had for the Burton resolution favoring the world court in the last congress. Senators who voted for the world court and who are candidates for re-election this year were startled by the overwhelming defeat of Mr. McKinley and some of them did not conceal fears that the Illinois result will encourage opponents to take the field again on the world court issue, who, otherwise, would not have become candidates.

These Seek Re-election.

Senator Norbeck [Rep., N. D.] who voted for the world court resolution has been renominated, the issue not having in that contest. Senator Ernest (Ernest) (Rep., Ky.) was renominated in complete. Other senators who voted for the court and are seeking renomination are Bingham [Rep., Conn.], Edward [Dem., La.], Butler [Rep., Mass.], Cameron [Rep., Ariz.], Carter [Rep., Ind.], Curtis [Rep., Wis.], Dale [Rep., Ill.], Fletcher [Rep., Fla.], George [Rep., Ga.], Gooding [Rep., Ida.], Gorham [Rep., Wash.], Lenroot [Rep., Wis.], Means [Rep., Colo.], Oddie [Rep., Mich.], Overman [Rep., N. C.].

how many men do you think it would take to enforce the national prohibition act? Do you think the whole army and navy of the United States could do it?

Prohibition Agent Williams, avoiding an exact answer, said: "If we had more teeth in the law we could do better."

Senator Reed, rising to his feet, said: "You sentenced a man to penal servitude for brewing and selling a glass of beer to a man who wants to drink it, if you put upon him the disgrace of prison stripes and took him away from his family for two years, then wouldn't the law itself be the worst criminal?"

Mr. Williams, a pale, gaunt, earnest looking man, replied quietly, "I don't think so."

Says Zealots Are Insane.

Senator Reed, with tragic fervor, just wondered how case hardened you are! Yes, I think it is a fact that American men do not understand just how terrible the law could be. Such an open, heartless declaration can only mean that zealots have allowed their enthusiasm to rise to the point of insanity."

Mr. Williams, who did not seem to have reached the point of insanity, subjected Mr. Reed to a cold scolding which did not temper his fiery passion in that statement's breast.

The point of Senator Reed's frequent outbursts of emotion at these hearings is not that he is either personally or legislatively a slave of rum, but that he, veteran constitutionalist as he is, stands in real terror lest the new laws against rum lead to perilous invasions of the personal liberties of his fellow citizens.

Indeed, he thinks those laws have already so callously invaded those liberties and today he took especially ill this acknowledgement under oath by Gen. Andrews:

"It is true we often use a man of the underworld as an informer, although not as a prohibition agent."

Gen. Andrews: "We make a contract with him for information, and he is paid out of the general fund. If he does not bring in any information, he does not get any pay."

Quots Ohio Official.

The now celebrated statement of Enforcement Officer Porterfield of Ogle—"there is no reason why a man with a criminal record should not be employed to detect violations of the prohibition act"—was quoted to Gen. Andrews. Senator Reed followed up the quotation.

"In other words," he said, "those men are part of the criminal population of the United States. Who checks them up? How do you check up them? Gen. Andrews: "Yes."

Gen. Andrews: "We raid."

Senator Reed: "Do you get a search warrant?"

Gen. Andrews: "For raiding a still in the woods or in a swamp no search warrant."

Senator Reed: "Then they invade the private premises of a citizen of the United States, which are guaranteed to him under the constitution, do they?"

The most explicit reply Gen. Andrews would make to that intimation was: "My answer may be incorrect."

Reed Attacks Harrel.

Senator Reed would not relinquish this subject of searches without warrants, much to the irritation of Senator Harrel, who was defending prohibition agents who raid a still without a warrant, said: "You don't have to get a search warrant to find a murderer in a house."

Again this was more than Senator Reed could bear, and rounding on Senator Harrel, he said: "Well, senator, you'd better go and look up the law on the difference between a felony and a misdemeanor."

Senator Harrel: "You'd better make it a felony to keep a still."

Senator Reed: "You would be willing to do that? Why not get the old magna charta and the constitution out and burn them both up?"

Col. Codman of Boston, floor manager for the wets, then asked Andrews if he knew that before 1914, of the total consumption of alcoholic beverages in this country, 90 per cent was beer, and the general replied: "I don't know that."

In fact, the chief prohibition officer of the land seemed to Senator Reed strikingly deficient on the background of liquor, its history, and its problems.

Mr. Andrews also brought out the Senator Reed: "We are talking now about stills in the home only, and the cold truth is that, whereas there was practically no manufacture of whisky and beer in the homes before prohibition, now in one year you have seized one hundred and seventy-two thousand stills, and they probably were not one in ten of the total number stills operating. Now, I want to ask you, do you think that the manufacture of liquor in the homes has a tendency to put the American home into direct and intimate contact with liquor?"

Gen. Andrews: "Of course it does,"

Senator Reed: "Now, is not this bringing of millions of families into contact with the manufacture and drinking of liquor, this secret, this contact with the police—is not all this utterly destructive of the morale of the home in which this goes on?"

Gen. Andrews: "Unquestionably, it is seriously injurious."

W. J. STRATTON'S DEFEAT A BITTER PILL FOR SMALL

Kinney's Treasury Victory
Upsets 3d Term Plan.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Gov. Len Small took a terrific dose of bitter gall with his victories in the Republican primaries Tuesday. Repudiated by Republicans of the state at large in the defeat of his candidate for state treasurer, William J. Stratton, the governor also saw some of his legislative goals go down to defeat.

Returns, still incomplete, indicate that Garrett De Forest Kinney of Chicago, former chairman of the G. O. P. state committee, beat Stratton for the treasury nomination by between 64,000 and 60,000 votes.

The latest returns give Kinney 354,115 and Stratton 223,189, a lead of 71,926 for Kinney, with 645 precincts missing. The missing precincts are practically all in downstate regions. Judging from returns in hand, those will somewhat reduce the Kinney lead.

A defeat for Stratton's Plans.

Whether Small will control the next legislature depends largely on the politics and line-up between now and next January when the new assembly convenes. The governor won some signal victories with Deneen aid in districts where the full combined strength of the state administration and United States Senator Deneen was concentrated on legislative candidates.

Small suffered some outstanding defeats that were significant along with the loss of Stratton, a member of his cabinet. The Stratton race admittedly was a trial heat for the 1928 gubernatorial. Every force at Small's command was put behind the candidate of Stratton, director of conservation in the governor's cabinet, a Luddin wheel horse in Lake county, who did valuable service for Small preceding his trial at Waupaca four years ago.

The Governor Takes a Chance.

In districts, particularly downstate, where Gov. Small has received even partial support from some of the sitting legislators, he made a careful canvass and took a chance on some of the veterans rather than attempt to defeat them. In those districts the small issue was not so clear cut.

One of the biggest upsets in the state budget Small secured in his home district, the 20th (Kankakee, LaGrange, and Grundy). Here, with only five precincts missing, unofficial returns showed a decisive defeat of one of the governor's mainstays in the house, C. B. Sawyer.

J. Bert Miller, former state's attorney of Kankakee county and the anti-Small leader there, swept to victory, leading all legislative candidates by a wide margin. In the 4th (Kankakee-Fulton) district, Owen D. West, chairman of the house contingent expense committee and one of the cogs in the governor's legislative machine, was defeated by C. L. Ewing, the return show.

Wallace A. Bandy (Rep., William), another of Small's faithful followers in the house and an avowed leader of the Ku Klux Klan in Bloody Williamson, also was defeated on the face of it.

In the forty-fifth (Springfield) district, Henry H. Meeter, former sheriff who gained fame in 1921 when he arrested Gov. Small in the executive mansion, won one of the Republican nominations for the house.

Pat Over Five Small Men.

On the other side of the political ledger Small and Deneen nominated five senatorial candidates in Cook county, including two sitting senators—Roos in the 7th (county towns) and Haenisch in the 31st.

Haenisch defeated State Representative George A. Williamson and Roos beat A. A. Hueschen. The full weight of all campaign patronage and names of all descriptions were used to put Haenisch over. The same methods were used by the Lundin-Small machine in the neighboring 6th district where Lincoln Park Superintendent Emil A. W. Johnson was nominated for the house.

In the Thirteenth (Calumet) district, the lone candidate, Harry W. Stasz, won in a close three-cornered race, defeating former Speaker G. A. Dahlberg and Clarence S. Piggott. Stasz's victory, however, was a pyrrhic triumph for Pat H. Moynihan, 14th ward committeeman who is slated to succeed F. L. Smith as chairman of Illinois commerce committee and who was a named a Senate nominee to Small.

Donald H. McGlynn (Deneen-Small) appears to have nosed out Harry J. May (Crowe-Barrett) for the Republican senatorial nomination in the 11th (Englewood) district. In the same district the state administration lost regular W. R. Miller who was defeated by Calvin T. Weeks (Crowe-Barrett).

Senator MacMurray Defeated.

The defeat of Senator James E. MacMurray in the 5th (Glyde Park) district by Roy C. Woods (Crowe-Barrett) was one of the outstanding victories against the Lundin-Small-Deneen combination. The Small label was too much for MacMurray, a millionaire

PROBE CHARGES OF GUN TERROR REIGN AT POLLS

Britten Says Thugs Tried to Rob Him of Votes.

Charges that armed terrorists ran roughshod through several wards on election day, causing election officials yesterday to order an investigation which may result in the exposure of fraud in many of the contests. The series of accusations was climaxed by a sizzling statement from Congressman Fred A. Britten, who defeated Mrs. Bertha Baur for the congressional nomination in the Ninth district.

"The most startling feature of election day was the presence on the north side of a number of automobiles filled with gunmen, whose names are known to the police and who, in broad daylight, went from one polling place to another threatening murder if the precinct captain failed to deliver his precinct for my opponent," declared Mr. Britten.

Charges Revolver Threats.

In one precinct in the 43rd ward, Mr. Britten asserted, the precinct captain was threatened at the point of a revolver and told he would be on his way to the cemetery that night if Britten carried the precinct. Britten at the time was running ahead by 5 to 10 in that precinct, according to the statement.

In other instances, the congressman declared, as much as $1,000 a precinct was offered.

"I lost those precincts where the colored and Italian vote was the heaviest," said Britten.

"Hymie" Weiss Is Freed.

If gunmen can in broad daylight ply their trade without police interference it is but a matter of time when other business, industrial plants and other private properties will be at the mercy of this lawless type now running at large."

Early "Hymie" Weiss, arrested when, armed with a revolver, he is said to have tried to intimidate an election clerk at the 22d precinct polling place in the 47th ward, at 732 North La Salle street, was dismissed for want or prosecution by Municipal Judge Max Luster.

HELD FOR WIFE MURDER.
James Thompson, 45, of 4449 South Webster avenue, a colored man, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of murder by a coroner's jury for shooting his wife April 12.

Hungary Accepts Terms of Americans in Film Tax Row

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 14.— After breaking off negotiations a few days ago with the American movie representatives on the question of a tax on the importation of United States films, the government tonight backed down and agreed to accept the American terms of a tax of four cents per meter.

"I lost those precincts where the colored and Italian vote was the heaviest," said Britten.

"Hymie" Weiss Is Freed.

"If gunmen can in broad daylight ply their trade without police interference it is but a matter of time when other business, industrial plants and other private properties will be at the mercy of this lawless type now running at large."

Early "Hymie" Weiss, arrested when, armed with a revolver, he is said to have tried to intimidate an election clerk at the 22d precinct polling place in the 47th ward, at 732 North La Salle street, was dismissed for want or prosecution by Municipal Judge Max Luster.

LITTLE BALLOTS TURN CHICAGO'S EYES TO FUTURE

With Better Roads, Zoo, Lights, and Boxing.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Major Deyer called in several of his department heads yesterday and urged speed in the construction of the improvements for which Chicagoans voted $19,070,000 last Tuesday. Both the mayor and the manager said interpreting the large majorities as a vote of confidence in the four commissioners who will direct the use of the money.

The zoo received a majority of 128,562, Tuesday, with 54 precincts yet to hear from. It was defeated two years ago. The zoo is to be located on 72 acres of the forest preserve near Riverdale, of which the larger part was donated by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

The voters [Minus 54 precincts]:

HERRIN FEARS MORE BLOODSHED AT CITY ELECTION

Old Hates Smolder as Troops Keep Truce.

BY ORVILLE Dwyer.

Herrin, Ill., April 14.—(Special.)—This turbulent center of "Bloody Williamson" county is a smoldering mine of political, racial, religious, and plain old time feuds. Tonight, while bayonets and machine guns for the eighth time in four years, keep a temporary peace.

Some of that the six men killed in today's election riots were the victims of feeling dating back to the "bloody vendetta" of thirty odd years ago. Others contend they were the victims of the bootlegging war that has harried Williamson ever since the coming of prohibition. Still others believe the killings were the outgrowth of Klan and anti-Klan strife.

The most reliable information appears to be that the troubles are the outgrowth of a political fight for control of this section of the state, and that the fighting is not yet over.

Troops to Remain.

The soldiers that patrolled the streets of Herrin and another suspicious town today will remain, it is given out, "for an indefinite period." Certainly they will remain over next Tuesday, for there is an aldermanic election that day, an election in which both the Klansmen and their foes have a ticket in the field.

And while the election may bring more trouble and more bloodshed, it has been said in Herrin and in Marion that "they," meaning the anti-Klanists, "didn't get the men they intended to get, but that they aren't discouraged."

The inquest into the deaths of the last half dozen victims of Herrin hate has been set for Friday morning. Coroner George Bell today impaneled a jury. The six men viewed the bodies so that the funerals might proceed, and the coroner then told them to come back to the city hall Friday.

State's Attorney Artie Boswell, for some undisclosed reason, has issued an edict barring newspaper men from this inquest.

CHICAGO HAS COLORFUL NIGHT IN THE GLOW OF AURORA BOREALIS

BY SELBY MAXWELL.

The northern lights, or aurora borealis, shone brightly over Chicago last night. The northern sky was lit by gauzy filaments of green and purple light, pulsing and wavering.

The aurora is an electromagnetic phenomenon, streaming out from the earth's magnetic poles. Its cause is unknown. The aurora points out electrically charged particles, but particularly when there are spots on its surface. Now is a time when sun spots are numerous. Currents of electricity radiate out from spots, like the discharge in a vacuum tube. The earth is a magnet and attracts them. As this radiant electricity is drawn in toward our magnetic poles they excite the upper air and make it glow and quiver to every wave of energy from

POSSES HUNT MAIL ROBBER WITH $37,000

Driver Is Questioned on Kidnapping Story.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Patrick P. Dwyer, robbery, sentenced to 10 years to life in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

Posses organized by the Will county sheriff were scouring the wooded country surrounding Joliet last night searching for a mail robber with $37, 000.

The robbery occurred yesterday morning in Indiana Harbor. Two sacks of mail from Chicago were obtained at a railroad station by Watson, whose employer has a contract to haul mail. He started with them on his truck for the post office, but was handed over to postal inspectors.

The robbery occurred yesterday morning in Indiana Harbor. Two sacks of mail from Chicago were obtained at a railroad station by Watson,
whose employer has a contract to haul mail. He started with them
on his truck for the post office, but was handed over to postal inspectors.

Witnesses Describe Holdup.

Three witnesses who saw what they afterwards were told was a robbery, said they saw an automobile parked in an out-of-the-way place when the robber fled. They said they saw two men stop the car driven by Watson, noticed that there was a brief conversation, and then the two sacks of mail were transferred to the automobile. Watson then entered the other car.

"One man held a gun on me," Watson said later in reporting the robbery.
"He forced me to get into his car after he had the two mail sacks. I had to drive his car and we started south."

Near Joliet the automobile stopped and the robber got out. This was then one of the two mail sacks and went into the woods. After a few minutes I ran into Joliet and reported the robbery.

Discrepancies Are Noted.

It was said that the missing sack contained $37,000 in old bills sent by the Federal Reserve bank here to the Indiana Harbor State bank. The other sack contained only registered mail.

Because the witnesses didn't see any revolver displayed during the robbery and because they said there were two men instead of one, as Watson stated, the postal inspectors were grilling Watson all last evening. No word was heard from the searchers who were after the man with the mail sack.

AUTO TURNS OVER; WOMAN KILLED.

Estelle Burden, 23, was killed when the automobile in which she was riding turned over into a ditch. She suffered a fracture of the skull and a broken neck.

FIGHT ON ILLINOIS RIVER AID RENEWED IN STEERING COMMITTEE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Michigan and Ohio members of the house rivers and harbors committee
Illinois river waterway project before the steering committee today. They insisted that approval of the provision for it in the pending omnibus rivers and harbors bill means perpetuation of the diversion of 8,250 cubic feet of Lake Michigan water.

Representative Chalmers (Rep., O.)
spokesman, asserted that this diversion "would cripple transportation on the great lakes—the country's greatest asset—that one city could save money on its sewage disposal system."

He urged the steering committee to reconsider its action in the Illinois river project from the stand and let it stand. Frank Watson, driver of a mail truck in Indiana Harbor, Ind., was being questioned by postal inspectors.

BERGDOLL, U. S. SLACKER, FREED IN LOVE TRIAL

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

[Copyright: 1926, By The Chicago Tribune.]
MOSBACH, Baden, April 14.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American millionaire slacker, on trial here on a charge of moral turpitude and immoral assault, was acquitted late this evening after his alleged victim gave evidence that she had been "very considerate of his conduct."

Cairo and brought up in Budapest, came to Heidelberg in the fall of 1922, when she was thirteen years old. With the permission of her parents, Bergdoll courted the girl and was engaged to her until she told him he had broken off the engagement because Bergdoll was "extremely flirtatious."

Later he heard that she had died and visited the grave at Heidelberg, but it was that of her sister.

In a two hours' cross-examination Friedel and her mother gave conflicting testimony. The alienist, reporting to the jury, declared she, as well as her mother, was of an "unreliable type, whose statements are not creditable."

ACQUITTED ON ALL CHARGES.

Conflicts in the testimony of the mother and daughter were numerous.
The court acquitted Bergdoll of all charges, finding the government to have failed to prove its case.

"We are here to examine the accusations without any consideration of wealth or political problems. We find the testimony of the witnesses, Frau Schmidt and her daughter, conflicting in almost all cases," said the decision read by the judge. "Our opinion supports the expert alienist, Prof. Grubel.
We acquit Bergdoll at the expense of the government."

The Mosbach public took little interest in the procedure. Only Berg-doll's closest friends were waiting for him at the door of the court after they had testified to his "excellent character in private life."

SMALL'S DEFEAT IN THE STATE.

The nomination of Garrett D. Kinney as Republican candidate for state treasurer is assured. Gov. Small has lost a state-wide contest of the greatest importance to him and it is the first defeat his organization has met in such elections since its control was clamped down.

Through the candidacy of Stratton, who was in charge of outside work at the Waukegan trial, Small sought to recapture control of the state treasury. That and control of the legislature were required for further success in the next two years and, if they could be bridged, for an attempt at renomination and reelection.

Small has lost the treasury. The disposition of the legislature cannot always be read from the election returns. It may be one thing immediately after an election and another when the assembly is in session. It seldom follows an apparent lesser, small just now is a lesser.

He backed the wrong horses in Cook county and lost. He collected a great deal of money from state employees, but what he used of it in the primaries did not get him what he wanted. He is held liable for money withheld from the state treasury. When he is presented with the bill of final accounting he must pay it. It was strange even for him that with this record confirmed for all time by the Supreme court he should have tried to get the treasury back into his hands, but we should have known that nothing is strange for Mr. Small.

Kinney's victory will indicate if not prove that the Republican voters of the state are prepared at last to cast off the reproach of their leadership and we imagine that the leaders when they meet in convention will be more sensitive to this probability and this need than they have been. The issue is honesty. It will stick. It may have to rap some heads. They will be foolish heads if they wait for it.

States frequently have stables to clean. Illinois has to begin in the living room of the house.

PEGGY IN SEARCH OF A HOME.

Poor Peggy Joyce is about to make her fifth try for ideal domestic happiness. This time it is to be with Stanford E. Comstock, Miami real estate man, who has yachts and other property said to be worth $10,000,000.

Poor Peggy! She has tried so hard for a happy home. And the only result of all her heartbreaks has been a collection of jewelry and a marital record that gives promise, with time, of rivaling old Henry VIII's.

Peggy, in case you do not know, was born May 23, 1892, Margaret Upton, the little daughter of the village barbers of Farmville, Va. She was a non too happy child. The boys did not like her. And she was dumb, terribly dumb. When she was sixteen she was only in the seventh grade. Arithmetic was her chief trouble. She couldn't add two and two. She has improved since those days, of course. She is now probably the best lady subcontractor in this country and Europe.

Marriage with Everett Archer, the millionaire grocery salesman of Denver, at the age of seventeen was Peggy's first serious attempt to gain the lasting love she sought. They were divorced in less than a year. He got the divorce and shattered her young dreams by charging scandalous things.

In Washington, a little later, Peggy met and married Sherburne G. Hopkins, Jr., also a millionaire. It was only a short time afterward that Peggy cried out in anguish, "Girls, don't marry a millionaire. A wife is only a minor incident in a millionaire's life." And thus was this second romance ended in the divorce court.

Heartaches, of course, could not daunt the courage with which Peggy faced the world. Her career progressed. She attained to that pinnacle of dramatic fame, a Follies girl.

In 1920 came J. Stanley Joyce, millionaire lumberman of Chicago. In her desire for a home, Peggy forgot the tragic lesson she had learned about millionaires. They were married. In less than two years Mr. Joyce started suit. And he, too, charged scandalous things. He was heartless enough to name other men, millionaires and princes, and a duke and a dancing man, here and abroad. Of course he settled about $1,500,000 worth of jewels and things on her, but those things don't make up for the loss of a romance in the case of a girl like Peggy.

Other men came into Peggy's life, a Paris banker's son, an actor, a Texas millionaire, another prince, and a stage Adonis. There were others, but they didn't count much. A Chinese millionaire committed suicide over her; a couple more were said to have ended their lives because she spurned them. Peggy scanned the lot and declined a fourth try.

"It's not money I want," she wailed, "but love, the great, grand, understanding, lasting kind of love."

For that was the sort of girl Peggy was, a home girl always.

It was love Peggy sought when she accepted the gift of Count Gustav Morner, a Swedish nobleman temporarily engaged in the toothpaste business in Chicago. The count was not wealthy; Peggy, however, admired him so for his winking looks. But, disappointment again. Two months saw the wreck, Peep Has Left Her Skid—Life.

of that fourth frenzied attempt for a cosy fireside. Their divorce was granted in Paris not quite three months ago.

Four vain attempts to gain domestic happiness, and the result—disillusionment, pitiful publicity, and the unkind remarks of people who call her a female Henry VIII. But Peggy will not give up. The desire for quiet, sheltered, peaceful matrimony by the home fireside is too strong. Perhaps Mr. Comstock—

But word just comes from Mrs. Comstock that may spoil Peggy's hopes again. Mrs. Comstock says she and her husband never have been legally divorced. Poor Peggy! We did hope Mr. Comstock would give her what she so much desires. Perhaps he will anyway. Ten million dollars is quite a lot of money, even if most of it is invested in Florida real estate.

AN ESSENTIALLY SOUND ELECTORATE.

Fractional puzzlements may disturb the electoral equilibrium when it comes to voting for candidates for office, but it is reassuring to those who sometimes have doubts about the efficacy of democracy to note the essential soundness of the voting public on questions of material civic improvement.

An overwhelming majority approved all sixteen bond issues, the Municipal court amendments, and the proposition enabling the creation of Cook county's forest preserve zoo. There were no political side issues to cloud the main one contained in the "little ballot," which was that of city and county progress. The voters wanted progress and they cast their ballots for it.

They voted for streets, bridges, lights, traffic lights, fire stations, district yards, better pay for Municipal court attaches, and for the zoological garden at 35th street and the Des Plaines river. This promises to be one of the most attractive of Chicago and the Chicago region.

The vote on the proposition ballot proves that the fundamental desire of a democratic people is to approve what is good for them and for their neighbors. If they go wrong at times it is because of the complexity of the electoral system, not because of any wish to place a bad or inefficient candidate in power. It is unfortunate that the issues in a candidature vote cannot be as simple as those that were contained in the proposition ballot as unmistakably approved last Tuesday. Could they be, government in America would be better, more efficient machine.

WALTER JOHNSON.

In the first game of the season, old Walter Johnson of the Senators—Or Barney, the Big Train—pitched fifteen innings against the Athletics, allowed only six scattered hits, and won, 1-0. Walter Johnson is a grandfather as baseball players reckon age. He was born in November, 1888, thirty-seven years old. The additionally remarkable thing about him is that he depends on speed. He is still the speed artist of the game.

A lesser player would have cracked under the strain long ago. Walter Johnson fools the propects the most. He is still going strong. One does not have to have personal knowledge of Walter Johnson's personal habits to know that he is the clean living, straight thinking, hustling type of man that Americans like their athletic idols to be. His record speaks for itself.

Baseball stars are heroes to hundreds of thousands of boys throughout the country. Walter Johnson, going strong at thirty-seven, is a pretty good type of hero for an active boy to admire.

THE CIRCUS HAS COME TO TOWN.

The circus has come to town. The Coliseum has become the "big top" where lions and tigers roar, acrobats sway on shifting feet, white-faced clowns practice the art of making folks laugh, and aerialists and acrobats and equestrians performers—ladies and gentlemen—transform laborious strength and skill into exploits of seemingly effortless grace.

The circus has come to town. Grownups who have children will take them as an excuse to go themselves, and grownups who haven't will look around for a nice or a nephew who will serve as a passport to the land of spangled make believe. Some people still think the circus is a show for children. Circus men will tell you that seventy-five per cent of circus tickets are sold to citizens of voting age.

The circus is an epitome of the desires that the youth in all of us still cherishes. Carefree vagabond adventures. Dressed in the tinsel gauds that workday decorum denies. Facing the wild beasts of the jungle, and proving that puny man is the stronger. Performing deeds of might and courage, when most of us content ourselves with the exertion of lifting a heavy pen and crossing a loop street. Focal point for ten thousand eyes, pinnaclized on the gorgeous beams of the spotlights, cavorting to the giddy blare of the band.

The pungent smell of the animal dens, the aroma of the sawdust and the shavings, they are the scent of a gayer, freer, more daring world apart.

The circus symbolizes adventure and youth. Who doesn't enjoy it has left behind some of the dreams of youth, some of the lust for pleasantly vicarious adventure.

Editorial of the Day

[Washington Post]

The league of nations is finding itself in an embarrassing position in dealing with the United States on the question of the world court. The league must keep up the pretense that the court is not an adjunct to the league; and yet the conditions of American adherence to the protocol are unacceptable because they require radical reconstruction of the league's plan for manipulating world politics. As matters stand, the league council must abandon its control of the court or induce the United States to amend its reservations. The latter course seemed to be the obvious one to adopt; and, accordingly, Sir Austen Chamberlain directed the league secretariat to call the nations together at Geneva on Sept. 1, with the United States present, for the purpose of inducing the United States to modify its conditions.

Much to the surprise of the league secretariat, the conference is the negotiator," says Senator Swanson. But the White House spokesman comes to the relief of the President by retorting, "There is no such thing as a negotiator."

The only negotiators in this matter are the nations composing the league, and the negotiations concern themselves alone. If they can agree among themselves to reconstruct the league council by destroying its power to employ the world court for political purposes, and can reconcile their several aims with the conditions set forth by the United States, they will then be in a position separately to advise the United States of their unconditional acceptance of the American reservations.

HEADACHE REMEDIES.

I HAVE recently read of calcium lactate as a remedy for that form of headache which is frequently called "migraine." Dr. Riggs gives it in thirty grain doses, taken at the time of the attack. He does not say how far apart he repeats it, if at all. It may be given in fresh tablets [tablets of calcium lactate do not keep well]. This drug is usually given in solutions of various kinds. Within ordinary limits it is harmless.

Dr. Riggs does not claim that calcium lactate is panacea for all headaches, nor even for all migraine headaches. He limits himself to saying that those who take calcium lactate get through their attacks with less aches and nausea than do those who do not take it.

There is proof enough that every case of migraine should be carefully studied as well as relieved.

BLAME BUTLER TOOTHACHE FOR HOST'S ARREST

Might Have Had Visions, Court Martial Told.

(Picture on back page.)
San Diego, Cal., April 14. (AP)—Toothache and hexyl resorcinol were baled before a military tribunal here today and branded as the cause of Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler's accusation of drunkenness against Col. Alexander S. Williams.

The toothache, which Gen. Butler's alibi minister to the court martial trial, Col. Williams on a charge of being intoxicated at the Hotel Del Coronado a few hours after he had given a dinner in Gen. Butler's honor.

Blame the Medicine.

The hexyl resorcinol was Col. Williams'. It was the medicine his physician had been prescribing for him since last January. Five witnesses were called to convince the court that instead of being drunk, Gen. Butler had been taking the medicine.

They agreed that the chemical compound frequently caused distress to the patient by inducing stomach sickness, dizziness, nausea, and other discomforts likely to spoil any party.

Had Dental Lesions.

Commander E. C. White, naval surgeon, gave testimony yesterday that the two dental experts who yesterday declared dental lesions could induce visions and that Gen. Butler had been having plenty of trouble with dental lesions.

Commander White said the general came to the naval hospital March 15 last for examination and treatment. He said he found him suffering from low blood pressure and nervous exhaustion, and that he was "nervous, easily excited, and poor of vision in his left eye."

The defense rested its case without having called the defendant to the stand.

IS STATE FUND SHY $300,000? BUNDESEN ASKS

Swift developments in three separate phases of Chicago's milk war yesterday the controversy nearer decided yesterday.

The Small administration, on one hand, was called on to explain delay in herd testing. Farmers were assured of an opportunity to have herds tested. Chicagoans received new proof that their milk supply is pure. Summarized, yesterday's happenings were:

1. Dr. Herman N. Bundeisen, health commissioner, asked why the state's pleading lack of funds, has curtailed testing when federal sources show it has $1,000,000 left for the work.

2. The shortage of veterinarians asks State of Fund.

While S. J. Standard, head of the Illinois department of agriculture, recently declared that only $700,000 remain in the $2,000,000 appropriation for herd testing, records of Dr. J. J. Lintner, federal director here, Dr. Bundeisen points out a balance of $1,000,000, an unexplained difference of $300,000.

Dr. Lintner said yesterday his force of twenty men will be in the field at once. Some of them started work yesterday.

Other members were Dr. Frank Billings, Dr. Isaac A. Abt, Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, and D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair.

It is added that had not Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the animal industry bureau in Washington, authorized the federal staff to carry on the testing, hundreds of farmers would have withdrawn their milk from the market.

PEKING TROOPS SMASH CHANG'S COSSACK BRIGADE

Lead White Captives by Strings in Their Noses.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PEKING, April 14.—Russian captives of the Kuominchun, on the southeast front, are reported to be led like canaries with strings through their noses when they are taken to the rear. The Cossacks, who founded a brigadier under Manchurian rule, the Manchurian war lord, almost have been annihilated in the fighting with the Kuominchun (national armies). The fighting to the southeast is almost continuous, with airplanes bombing the trenches. One airplane has failed to return.

The fighting south of Tungchow also is heavy. The mail is being stopped by shell fire. For the third successive day there is no news from Tientsin.

Offer by Chang.

Gen. Chang today replied to the overtures of the peace delegation that he will not fight when the Kuominchun evacuates Peking, but he will not enter the capital if the police press serve order.

The foreign diplomatic corps, while admitting that Provisional President Tuan Chi-jui and the premier are within the quarter, has decided to accept their sincere statement that they have no intention but to remain in the country from functional, superior forces. The diplomats will not recognize the dual government, regarding the non-fugitive members also as part of the government.

2,000 Chinese Slain.

PEKING, April 14.—[U.N.]—Two thousand Chinese have lost their lives in the fighting which has been going on at Huangtsun, ten miles outside this city, since last Saturday.

Heavy artillery fire has been heard in Peking constantly in the last few days and is continuing. There is every reason to believe that the forces of the national people's army of Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang and the allied forces of Gen. Wu Pei-Fu and Chang Tso-Iin for possession of the capital is gaining rather than losing strength.

Observers Kept Away.

Foreign observers who have been able to get close to the battle lines at Huangtsun are the only source of information as to the casualties in the battle. Every effort is made to shroud the details of the allied onslaught in secrecy. It has been known here for days that the loss of life must be heavy due to the constant bombardment but until two or four hours of foreign observation parties, including many Americans, have been unable to get into the war zone.

The diplomatic corps announces that an order has been issued by the allied generals discontinuing air raids on Peking.

WINS DELAY ON THEFT CHARGE.

Mrs. Rebecca Brown, 28, 1607 Tuohy avenue, arrested Tuesday on a charge of stealing $1,000 from a safe in the home of the S. L. Eddie company, 214 South Franklin street, was granted a continuance yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli.

MUSSOLINI FINDS AFRICAN EMPIRE AWAITS HIS RULE

Rich Valley Rivals That of Mississippi.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Libya, then Italy's colonial aspiration will cease to menace Europe for the present. In Libya, Italy has sufficient opportunity to prove its worth to the world for many years to come. A question which European diplomats want to answer is whether the Fascists will be content to develop what Italy already possesses or whether they will seek new colonies before they properly have assimilated what they have.

During these days of close contact with Premier Mussolini, I have had exceptional opportunity to observe his health. As far as any one can see, he has completely recovered from the effects of the duodenitis which threatened to lay him low. While perhaps he has not the same robust figure of four years ago, he is a man in good health. He has been untiring throughout his visit. His face, now tanned by the African sun, has a healthier glow than at any time in the last two years.

FRANCE, GERMANY SIGN DEAL FOR FREEDOM OF SKY

Paris-Berlin Commercial Airway Mapped Out.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 14—Coincident with the conclusion of the Franco-German negotiations, abrogating most of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty, regarding the French aviation development is the signing of an airway accord between the Paris and Berlin governments permitting commercial flying without hindrance over both countries.

Start Service Next Month.

Passenger and freight airplane service between the capitals will begin at the end of May, the journey taking about seven hours, with a landing at Cologne, which is the London-Berlin junction.

The agreement was only possible when France relaxed control of the German aviation fixed by the Versailles treaty, limiting the size, speed, power, and climbing ability of the Teuton aircraft, as the reich since then strictly prohibited any allied machines larger, faster, more powerful, or capable of climbing higher than its own, to fly over the fatherland.

FORBID MILITARY PLANS.

The communists, however, the treaty still prohibits German army and navy aviation, but permits a certain number of reichswehr officers to become pilots for "sport," and also allows the reich to maintain half a dozen police airplanes to patrol the air; but rigorously forbids military machines.

WINTRY SPRING DELAYS FARMERS IN SEEDING CROPS

Survey Finds Planting Is Delayed Two Weeks.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Farmers are from two to three weeks behind in the seeding of small grains this spring in Illinois. Recent rains and snows have left the soil wet and soggy, and little field work has been done.

Reports from farmers and correspondents in various parts of the state yesterday showed that a few had varieties of wheat and other crops in their fields during the last few days in central and southern Illinois. The ground on most farms, even as far south as St. Louis, is still too wet and the oat crop is yet to be sown. The seeding of oats in central Illinois is ordinarily completed by the first part of April, and farmers say that with fair weather they will do well to get them in by the last week in April.

Poor Stands Expected.

What few oats have been sown have in most cases been "muddled in," and probably are not expected to produce early seedbeds. Mold boards of plows have been scoured for weeks, waiting to start turning over the fields for corn, but not a wheel has been turned.

The late spring is particularly discouraging to farmers south of here where the acreage of winter wheat was severely cut as a result of the heavy rain fall. Plans have been made to sow spring wheat on this land but practically all of it is still untouched. More delay will make it necessary to use the ground for other crops that can be planted later, which will likely result in an increased acreage of corn.

Farmers in southern Illinois say that it has been too wet to sow oats this year, and wheat and only a few fields are workable. From Champaign, De Witt and Logan counties comes about the same story.

Rain Is New Setback.

An hour's rain yesterday gave farmers another setback in central Illinois, according to Charles A. Ewing, who lives in Decatur and has farms in McLean county. He says there has been little grain sown in either McLean or Macon county and farmers will not be able to get into their fields until next week even if the weather improves, and they are already two weeks late.

Over on the eastern side of the state in Iroquois county, which is two or three counties south of the southern tip of Lake Michigan, farmers are two weeks behind schedule, according to L. W. Wise of Watseka. He says that little field work has been done, few oats sown, fields are muddy and soft. "We are using three weeks sowing oats by the first week in April and farmers have started, yet except in a few cases," he said.

The official crop report said yesterday that the condition of spring wheat in Illinois was below the average.

forcing his subordinates to purchase worthless presents. A further charge is brought in that he is interfering with the inheritance laws.

The latter complaint is made by the widow of a ruler of a subsidiary state of Hyderabad, who charges that the nizam has refused her the right to adopt a boy as successor to the throne of her husband. The nizam denied this right, guaranteed by the British government, and took possession of the widow's province and threw her into jail.

Other complaints are made by subjects of the nizam who were forced to run away and seek the protection of the British to keep him from imprisoning them and taking their estates.

All of Lord Reading's demands to explain these acts having been refused, natives are wondering what will be the action of the new viceroy, Lord Irving, in dealing with the situation. The fact that the nizam has considerable armed forces makes the situation dangerous. The British recently moved a large armed force into the neighborhood.

Is Mussolini Building a New Italian Empire?

Mussolini, the Italian dictator, is trying to form an anti-German bloc of Italy and the Balkan States, it is charged by some German writers, and the chief purpose of this bloc would be to prevent the union of Austria and Germany.

There is probably no man living today who is causing more concern to the chancelleries throughout the world than Mussolini. He has been charged with having the ambitions of Caesar, and to fulfill his ambitions he would stop at nothing—so say his enemies.

That he has Jugo-Slavia's support is obvious, we are told, from the recently concluded treaty between Italy and Jugo-Slavia. What is more, according to a special correspondent of the London Westminster Gazette, Mussolini's object in all the combinations he is engineering in Jugo-Slavia, Greece, and other South and Central European nations, is to obtain at least the benevolent neutrality of his neighbors in connection with his great "Empire" projects in the Middle East.

A leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, in text and picture, gives an illuminating insight into the political turmoil in Europe. It brings out in sharp contrast all the opposing elements so that the average man will understand the situation clearly.

$4,000 EMPLOYEE SWEARS HE DID EXPERTS' WORK

Helped Fix Rates They Got Big Sums For.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

John F. Ryan, expert special assessor in charge of the bond fund improvements for the board of public improvements, was placed on the witness stand yesterday by attorneys for THE TRIBUNE in the suit against the 1926 real estate experts being heard by Judge Hugo M. Friend.

The expert drew about $4,000 a year from the city, while the three experts on trial were taking more than half a million each a year. The examination by Attorney Howard Ellis was conducted with the intention of showing that Ryan did more work than the experts did and some for which they received credit. He was examined for two hours.

Got Help From Experts.

Q.—Did you get any instructions from him with regard to Ernest H. Lyons, Edward C. Waller, and Arthur S. Merigold, and their connection with your work? A.—He told me whenever I wanted them to help me to see them and get any information that I needed.

Q.—Did you ever get any figures or reports from Lyons, Waller, or Merigold with respect to the amounts any lots or parcels should be assessed on the rolls? A.—Yes, there were some, I remember, but I did not copy them.

Q.—How about Ogden avenue? A.—No amounts on Ogden avenue.

Q.—Did you get either appraisals or property or figures as to the assessment of property indirectly benefited from the three experts? A.—No.

Clark Fixed Benefit Rate.

Q.—Who determined on Ogden avenue that the public benefits should be approximately 33.1 per cent of the total award, plus the 5 per cent cost? A.—I recommended it to Mr. Faherty and he told me to speak with Mr. Lyons and the experts generally and they said all right, to go ahead.

Q.—Who fixed the limits of the benefited district on this section of Western? A.—I think I fixed them with Mr. Faherty.

Q.—Did you talk with Waller, Lyons or Merigold with reference to the size of the benefited area on this section of Western? A.—No.

Q.—Did they submit any figures either as to the amount of the assessment on any particular lot, or as to the appraisal of any particular lot in this section of Western not along the line of improvement? A.—No.

FRANCO-SPANISH ALLIES CLASH ON RIFF PEACE PLAN

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

PARIS, April 14.—Evidence of indecision regarding the peace negotiations in Morocco and sharp differences of opinion between the Paris and Madrid governments over Abd-el Krim, the Rifian leader, and the Riff problem in general was revealed today. A Quai d'Orsay spokesman said "dissensions" between France and Spain and Great Britain were still continuing and far from an accord on the four principal peace points published as governing the Moroccan negotiations.

The foreign ministry's mouthpiece admitted freely the necessity of dealing with Abd-el Krim as the chieftain of the Rifian tribes and leader of the rebels in order to secure a stable peace, and the French and Spanish governments and complete disarmament.

The French general, Mougin, now at Tsaourit conferring with the Rifian emir, indicated to journalists that he had received instructions to prepare the way for a truce as far as France is concerned, regardless of the obstacles Spain makes through its stiff, unacceptable terms.

HOOPER AND HIGGINS NAMED FOR RAILROAD LABOR BOARD POSTS

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special)—President Coolidge today sent to the Senate nominations for the railroad labor board. Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board and Samuel Higgins, whose terms expire tomorrow. No nomination was made for the vacancy that will occur on the board tomorrow with the term of W. L. McMenamin, representing the labor group, expiring.

Chairman Hooper represents the public group and Mr. Higgins the management group. The latter was recommended for reappointment by the railroad management.

The railroad labor organizations made no nominations for nomination to Mr. McMenamin. It is understood that they take the position that with passage of the Watson-Parker railroad labor bill the labor board will be abolished and that it was not necessary to recommend them to make a recommendation.

OSLO, Norway, April 15.—[Thursday]—[U. N.]—Capt. Roald Amundsen's polar dirigible, the Norge, is on its way to Leningrad. Hundreds of Norwegians celebrated all day the arrival of the great giant of the air remained up until 1 o'clock this morning that they might see it descend on the third lap of the journey, which it is hoped will end in a flight over the north pole.

The departure of the Norge came as a surprise to the large crowds which had welcomed it in the Norwegian capital yesterday. On the third lap arrived here from Pukhan, Eng., its crew announced that they would not set out for Russia until Thursday afternoon unless unusually fine weather prevailed.

The Unbreakable Bond

CAN you imagine more than a million and a half families? No one can. Can you visualize several million individuals? No. And yet it is true that the Scripps-Howard newspapers—twenty-four of them in the leading cities—have gathered together in one group more than a million and a half families, comprising an enormous family group in themselves—a family of readers and of buyers. Held together by the unbreakable bond of confidence established through many years of reading and trusting the pages of these great publications.

Why do they read these newspapers? Because of accurate, truthful news. Because of honest, fearless editorials. Because of helpful and interesting features and articles. And they read them, not only for these valid reasons, but also because these newspapers carry on the bold spirit of Horace Greeley . . . the pedestrian common sense of Ben Franklin . . . the proudest traditions of American journalism. The Scripps-Howard newspapers stand courageous and independent. Because they owe allegiance only to the truth—and no newspaper is infallible—they are quick to admit a fault and ready to correct an inaccuracy. Small wonder that more than 1,500,000 Americans here rest their faith!

Not only do these Americans believe in the sincerity of Scripps-Howard newspapers, but they believe in the merchandise offered for their approval in these newspapers. Merchandise from hundreds of manufacturers is brought into their homes through advertising. A new automobile, a new necktie, new equipment for a factory, clothing, shoes, foods, wearing apparel . . . the advertising columns of the Scripps-Howard newspapers are a forum of worthy products.

In each of twenty-four leading cities you will find a Scripps-Howard newspaper believing in its readers, and trusted by them. And whatever you manufacture—clothing, a household product, motor-cars, shaving soap, anything in fact which the modern American family needs and uses—you can share the common confidence which these newspapers represent. You can share this confidence profitably. Note that last word.

The Scripps-Howard newspapers are, above all, family newspapers. They interest every member of the family. They have the latest radio pages and up-to-the-minute market reports. They have sections for the home-maker and the hostess. They carry authoritative fashion news and thrilling sport features. They have fascinating stories and pictures for the children; reviews of books, music and the theatre for the older members of the family.

Through the co-operation of every member of the Scripps-Howard organization, these newspapers have achieved new heights in education, information and entertainment.

CUBS GET REVENGE ON CINCINNATI, 9-2

RING FANS EYE BOXING COMISH APPOINTMENTS

J. C. Ryan, Peoria,
Mentioned for Post.

Boxing in Chicago was legalized by a vote of 4 to 1. The returns last night showed that in all but 21 missing precincts the voters cast 279,115 ballots for boxing and 96,513 ballots against it. The majority thus registered figured 282,602 votes.

The tabulation of the returns in the primary elections of Tuesday not only told a story of victory for the friends of boxing in Chicago but in practically every downstate city. Quincy had already approved the boxing law. And in the Tuesday election Rockford, Peoria, Decatur, and East St. Louis voted for the regulated ring sport.

Who Will Be Commissioners?

With boxing made legal in practically all of the larger cities of the state, attention of the friends of the sport was directed toward the appointment of the commission which will rule boxing. Under the state law, which Chicago approved by an overwhelming majority, three men are to be appointed commissioners by the State. Each member of this commission is to receive a salary of $4,500 a year. They are to be given a secretary with a salary of $3,500.

Last night downstate politicians were saying that John C. Ryan, of Peoria, for ten years prominent in minor league baseball while serving as president of the Peoria club of the Three Eyes league, was almost certain of landing a place on the commission.

Rockford Man Mentioned.

His friends pointed out that Robert Scholles, state senator of the house during the last assembly, was Ryan's friend and they said that he had assured Scholles that Ryan's name would be considered before the appointment of commissioners was made.

Ryan, the owner of a cigar store in Peoria, is nearing his 50th year. In his younger days he was a baseball and football player and appeared in a number of amateur boxing bouts. His friends claim that he has thorough knowledge of the boxing game and is familiar with the workings of boxing commissions in other states.

Another man whose name has been prominently mentioned in connection with the boxing commission is Harry Miles, a sports writer of Rockford. He has been identified with wrestling and boxing as a referee and is said to have strong political connections.

One from Chicago.

Politicians yesterday said they believed two members of the governor's commission would be drawn from downstate and one from Chicago. It is said that scores of men from this city are seeking a berth on the commission.

A. N. Todd, defeated for renomination for the sanitary district trustee; Charles J. (Doc) Peters, a state grain inspector and defeated for Republican nomination for sheriff; and Charles R. Francis, member of the state tax commission, are men whose names had been mentioned as members of the commission to be.

As soon as the commission is appointed it will name its secretary and draw up rules to govern contests. Licenses blanks for promoters, referees, managers, and seconds will be printed and the entire machinery ready for operation about June 1, politicians say.

Boxers, managers, and others interested in the bill were jubilant yesterday over the fact that the bill received.

In former years the bill was either killed in the legislature or vetoed by the governor without the voter having a chance to express their stand.

$25,000 Bond Favored.

Aside from the probable makeup of the commission, the promotional end of the game was talked of freely at places where boxing is discussed. Under the commission places the promoters' bonds at a high figure it is evident that there will be nearly as many promoters as clubs. Clubs will be organized over night and bouts of various kinds staged.

Those concerned over the future of the bill intend to impress upon the commission the necessity of having the bonds so high that only high class promoters with backing can operate. A bond of at least $25,000 will have to be furnished if some men interested in boxing have any weight with the commission.

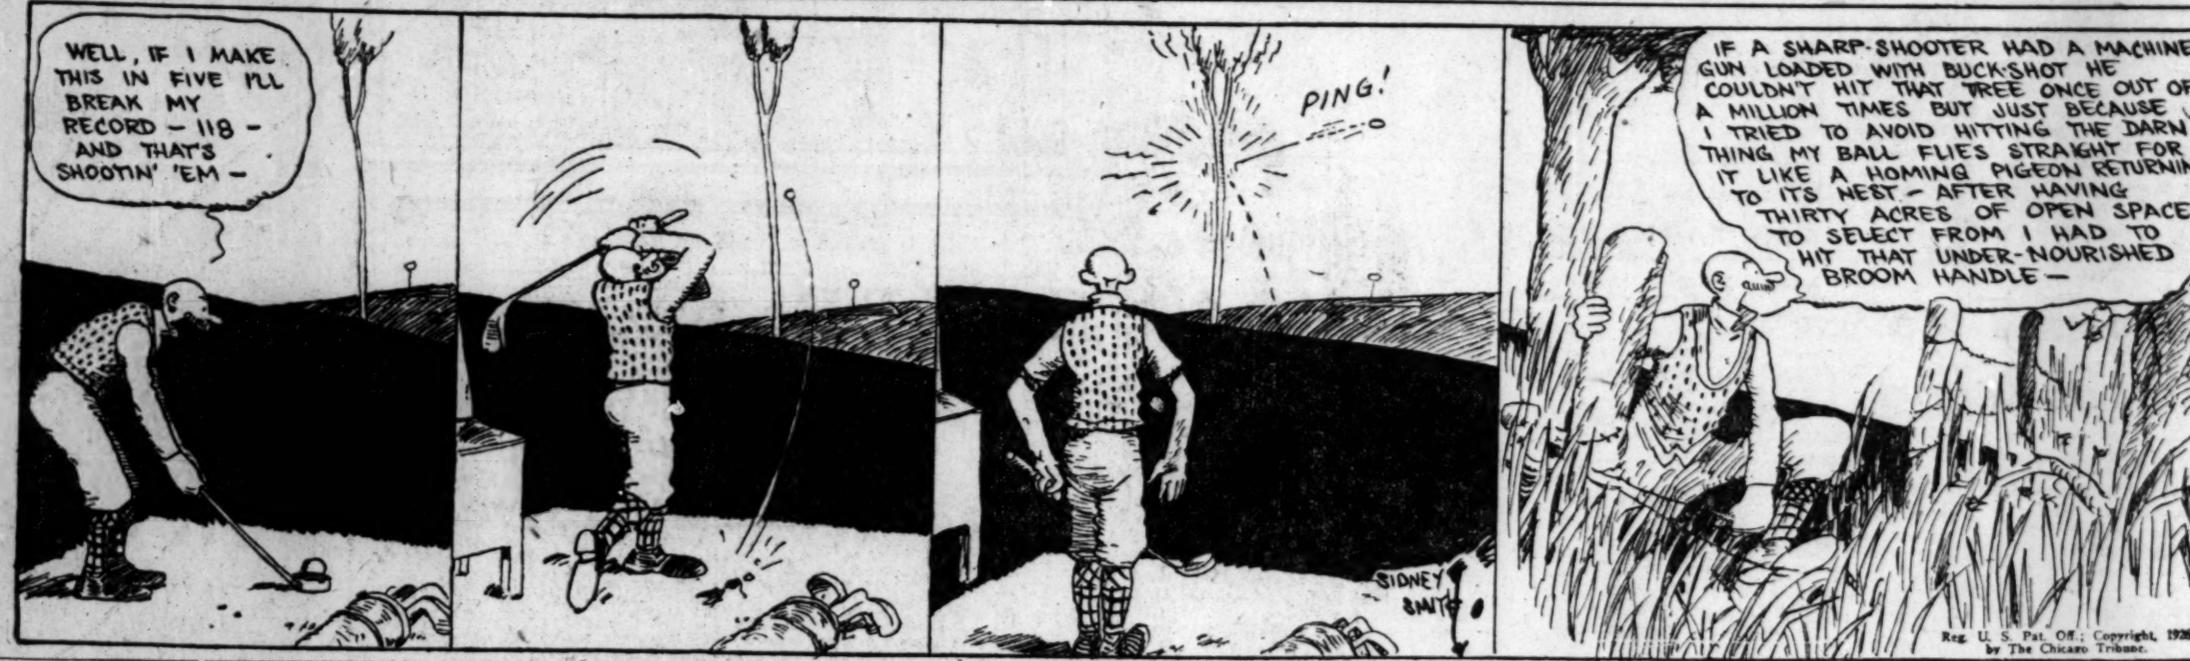

It is admitted that Chicago will be the boxing center of the world. Boxers from other states will be permitted to show their wares in Chicago, but no person can promote a show who has not been a resident of the state for at least three years.

DEMPSEY CONTRACT HOLDS

It was rumored along theistic rials yesterday that the Chicago Coliseum club would have to advance more money to Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills to buy the championship match which the club is supposed to have obtained for Chicago during September.

B. E. Clements of the Coliseum club when questioned last night denied any money payment was due, maintaining that the contract with the boxers was just as binding today as when the day was signed. Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, who secured the signatures of the champion and his Negro challenger, is reported to have merged his interests with the Chicago Coliseum

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

All the balmy breezes and sunshine of opening day have been replaced yesterday by tiresome winter blasts. It was necessary to weed out undesirables, often men against whom no formal proof of wrongdoing can be established. Betting is not legal in many states. Despite this handicap there is cooperation between turf bodies in respect to rulings, so that an undesirable in one place is undesirable elsewhere.

Wagering is not approved legally in Illinois. The situation is similar to that formerly prevailing in boxing. We have racing, but the state receives no revenue therefrom, and tenure is subject to local officials, governed by local sentiment.

The vote on boxing leads The Wake believe that Cook county voters would approve racing with some system of supervised betting if given the opportunity. The state legislature is unwilling to assume the responsibility for a racing law without referendum. Racing promoters would then plan for the best there is in that sport.

Chicago Owned Derby Colt Scores Third Victory.

Havre de Grace, Md., April 14.—[Special to the Tribune]—A hard-fought race from flag fall to finish, Harry Payne's "Noah" this afternoon captured the fourteenth running of the Harford handicap in a field of training, the fleetest sprinters in training at the opening of the Havre de Grace spring season.

Fred Hopkins saddled the brown son of Peter Pan and Jockey McLean a brownish tan horse, with a weight by a length in 1:12.4 for the six furlongs.

A crowd of 18,000 turned out for the opening and watched the Chicago owned Kentucky Derby candidate Timmara share the spotlight with Noah, when he won the Tip Top purse, which brought together a stylish band of 3 year olds, most of them Derby candidates.

Timmara, owned by T. W. O'Brien, led Rock Man home after a spirited brush in the stretch.

WHEAT SELLS AT NEW HIGHS, BUT BUYING IS SLACK

By CHARLES MICHAELS.

While all deliveries of wheat sold at a new high on the present movement, with May up to $1.65, or 15¢ over the low of last week, the market lacked the aggressive buying of the previous day, and the finish was with prices 4¢ higher to 4¢ lower, the latter on September. May finished at $1.64 1/4, June, at $1.53; July, 4¢ lower, with 42¢; corn was 4¢ lower, with 72¢ @ 73¢, and July 76¢ @ 77¢. Oats were 4¢ higher, with May, 42¢; and July, 42¢, while rye was 4¢ lower, with May 90¢ and July 91¢.

May wheat acted tight throughout the day and was 4¢ over July, 15¢ over the low, finishing at 55¢. The market was easy the rest of the day with the favorable crop comments from the southwest a factor, the unsatisfactory outlook in the central belt attracting little attention. There was buying of May here by houses with northwestern connections that was regarded as closing spreads, as the northwestern markets were easy, and led to some local selling. Winnipeg was credited with selling July and September here.

Eastern Houses Buy July.
Eastern buying of May wheat was much less active than in the West, but toward the last there was a large buying order for July filled by a house that usually acts for a leading eastern operator which strengthened the entire market. England was credited with having bought new crop hard winter for deferred shipment at the Gulf, while the Canadian pool was said to have sold 2,000,000 bu. to Manitoba, for storage, on the opening of navigation, and the prospect of a resumption of lake traffic is causing apprehension in the east. Export sales in all positions for the day were finally reported at around 1,000,000 bu. in all positions, largely Manitobas.

General run of cash wheat news was favorable to holders, but the big bulge during the last two days had the reaction of holding out favorable only attained. Liverpool closed 16 1/4¢ higher. Buenos Aires was 4¢ lower with May 41 1/4¢ and June 41 1/4¢. Winnipeg closed unchanged to 4¢ higher. Indications are that India will harvest a smaller wheat crop than last year, and will have little or no grain for export during the coming season.

Corn Breaks at Finish.

Local bulls were more active on the buying side of corn early with May advanced 4¢ to 64¢, but later there was selling, which found the technical position weak and a decline of 1¢ from May with relatively slow and the spot basis 1¢ higher to 1¢ lower. Reports from the west indicate that the soil is still too wet for field work, although oats sowing has been started. The price of 64¢ was the high grain was not large, and prices held within a range of 62¢-64¢. Elevator interests bought May and sold July at 4¢ difference. A little export business was put through at the seaboard.

Action of wheat was the main influence in rye, and the break in the former grain market was reflected by purchases of 15¢ lower. Sales, 11,900 barrels. Prime crude, 10.5¢ nominal; prime summer yellow spot, 10.6¢ nominal. May closed 11.86¢; July 11.80¢; September, 11.86¢; October, 11.76¢.

Flaxseed at Buenos Aires.
Flaxseed at Buenos Aires closed 4¢ higher with May 1.54¢, and June 1.56¢.

CASH·GRAIN·NEWS

Export demand for cash wheat at the board was fairly active with sales at all positions, including late Tuesday at 1,000,000 bu. but the bulk of it being Manitoba, England and Canada. Canadian exporters, with sales for shipment July 20-Aug. 15, had sales to September. I. o. b. Galveston, an average of 18 in the basis, as compared with recent prices. By the end of May 180,000 bu. with a little oats.

Export brokers and the sedulous it was becoming more difficult to buy dry wheat at Duluth, indicating that stocks there were well cleaned up. The Canadian pool was still having 2,000,000 bu. to Manitoba when it was last reported on Tuesday and has disposed of practically all of these, there at the opening of the navigation, the latter being the time in cause apprehension.

Canadian handlers sold 15,000 bu. to Duluth on May 13, 100 bu. at 60¢, 6,000 bu. barley to 60¢, 100 bu. corn at 60¢, and 6,000 bu. rye to go to store. Deliveries of April contracts were 40,000 bu. by yesterday.

Minneapolis grain market was firm and the basis was first digit over May 12. 42¢, and July 42¢, while rye was 4¢ lower, with May 90¢ and July 91¢.

EUROPEAN DRIVE
FOR U.S. MARKETS

BY O. A. MATHER.

To those internationalists who still bemoan Europe's inability to pay its debts to this country, data on our foreign trade given out yesterday by our commerce department may prove embarrassing. Pause also may be given to opponents of our tariff, while food for thought is afforded to economists. For the third consecutive month, the American market last month bought more from foreigners than we sent to them. Our imports were $445,000,000 and our exports were $375,000,000. The remarkable balance of $70,000,000 brought the adverse balance for the last three months to $125,000,000. No such showing as this has been made since 1923, when imports exceeded exports for the four consecutive months from March to June, inclusive.

Europe Able to Compete.

The present trend of our foreign trade is the more significant because it occurred while our commodity prices have been going down, whereas, in 1923 they were rising. The time is in room for doubt that Europe is driving for our trade and is able to compete with our industries in both home and other markets.

Last month's imports were the largest since August, 1923, and were about $60,000,000 larger than a year ago, which the commerce department attributes to the advance in rubber prices.

On the other hand, imports were about $75,000,000 lower than a year ago, which was due chiefly to a decline of $12,000,000 in cotton and recession of $26,000,000 in grain and grain products. For the nine months ended with March, exports and imports were $3,671,400,242 and $3,413,089,200 respectively. But the favorable balance of $36,551,042 compares with one of $496,730,645 for the same period in the previous fiscal year.

Steel Industry Slackens.

Some slackening in the steel and automobile industries is noted in the mid-month review.

"New orders for finished steel have slackened in the last week and there is some recession from the high rate of production maintained throughout March," the Iron Age says. "Shipments to railroads and the building trades are holding up but the automobile industry is taking less. The Steel corporation's rate now is put at somewhat above 95 per cent. In the Pittsburgh and Youngstown districts the average for all producers is slightly under 80 per cent, compared with 85 per cent in the latter part of March."

Favorable Railroad Reports.

Two more big western railroads issued favorable annual reports yesterday. Increases in freight revenues more than offset declines in passenger earnings, which suffered from motor vehicle competition.

Motor Vehicle Reports.

The Union Pacific reported net income of $38,231,060, equivalent after preferred dividends to $17,191 a share on the common stock. Net income in 1924 was $42,151,800, equivalent to 15 1/2 a share. Net railway operating income increased $4,800,000, but operating expenses declined $8,772,079. Freight revenue increased $6,676,150, but passenger revenue dropped more than $4,000,000.

The Union Pacific reported net income of $38,231,060, equivalent after preferred dividends to $15.40 a share on the common stock. Net income for 1924 was $46,754,105, equivalent to 14 1/2 a share. Freight revenue increased $1,725,725 but passenger revenue declined $1,542,546.

Bright Sayings
of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unvaluable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Auntie Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

When Maida's mother puts her to bed at night she usually lies down with her for a few minutes and pretends to go to sleep, as the child drops off quickly that way.

There was company one evening, and Maida went to bed with reluctance.

"Night, night, everybody," she said, as she took mother's hand and started off. "It's my mamma's bedtime."

"Does the baby always cry when he wakes up?" a visitor asked of Jack.

"Sure; that's his stop signal for sleeping," answered Jack. E. C. C.

Discovered.

At the college I attend it is the custom of the teachers to send warning notices to pupils by merely slipping them into the pigeonhole holes of the lockers. Consequently on "warning days" the corridor is decked with projecting white slips which scare the students.

The noon hour of one "warning day" found a group of students in the best of spirits surrounding one of the decorated lockers. Upon joining them I was gleefully dared to open the mysterious warning. Entering into the spirit of the fun, I tupted to the locker with much exaggeration, shaded my eyes as I looked in all directions, and slowly reached for the notice when it's owner turned the corner and simply took in the whole scene. Barraged? I guess so.

Remembered Too Late.

On an extremely cold day one winter many years ago one of my grandfather's friends drove several miles to call on him. This man had, as is incident, lost both of his legs and consequently had artificial limbs.

My grandmother knew of his misfortune, but forgot it at that moment and, wishing to be hospitable, she said, "It's such a wintry day, your feet must be cold. Won't you warm them on the register?"

When the man said, with an old smile, "My feet aren't cold," the awful truth finally dawned on her. G. E. C.

WARNER'S ORPHEUM STATE OF

Musical Doors Swing Open as Elmer Knocks

Some Good, Some Bad,
Some Just Fair.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The to be talked about type of programs last evening were late in getting started, but, once started, they didn't want to stop.

The Chicago and Northwestern rail way band (employed by WGN) 8:10. The announcement sounded interesting, but the band's musical output created mental images of a summer time outdoor band.

At the same hour WJJD, another amateur band, was entertaining, but this was of the concert type rather than an outdoor picinic type.

The story of the Kohlmoor diamond and other diamonds, as related by Fred M. Land, WHAU, threw a bit of enchantment around hereabouts at 8:30.

It was not until 8:40 that the larger musical doors were opened.

Hyde Park High school girls' glee club, WMAG, 8:40 to 9:20—and this no ordinary entertainment! Their selections were neither common nor easy to sing. Many of them were easy to sing, but some were sure unaccompanied. Yet everything was sung easily, gracefully, rhythmically, and with a zest that indicated that their director, Miss Grace Guller, is both gifted in this line and liked by her class.

From 9:15 to 10, WGN's microphone held open the doors of Orchestra hall and let us hear the closing section of the concert by the Chicago Society of Marshall Field & Co. Three numbers by the entire chorus were heard, closing with "The Lost Chord" (Sullivan), the grand organ and the grand piano adding their might to the mighty chorus.

The soloist was Arthur Middleton, baritone (previously heard through WGN from New York, Sunday, Jan. 10). Mr. Middleton sang one number, "The Largo al Factotum" (from Marriage of Figaro), and this as was to be expected, was so dramatically that an encore was demanded.

Meantime, St. Mark's M. E. church choir was singing in superb style. WLS, 9:45. The Taylor Concert Four (ladies' voices) following—but the dials were swamped elsewhere.

KWY, 10 to 11, uninterrupted with a repeat performance of Dr. J. Lewis Browne's one act operetta, "La Corsa cana," sung by soloists from St. Mark's church choir, Dr. Browne directing and accompanying that an encore was demanded.

A serious work, arias, melodic and of great beauty and simplicity; accompaniment, rich in color and of great variety.

BARES MOVES TO CONTROL RADIO BASIC PATENTS

New York, April 14.—(P)—The examiner's hearing for the federal trade commission into an alleged radio monopoly by the major electric companies, devoted today to an exposition of the documents used in obtaining control of basic patents.

Samuel M. Kintner, manager of the research department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, completed his third day of testimony concerning moves of the Westinghouse company in its program of radio development, which he said, involved an expenditure of $3,460,000.

Saying that the radio was controlled by the Westinghouse company, he testified that they chiefly were the work of Reginald Fessenden and Ed.

win H. Armstrong.

I.C. CUTS 2 HOURS OFF SCHEDULE TO NEW ORLEANS

The Illinois Central railroad announced yesterday that beginning May 16 the "Panama Limited" will make the run between Chicago and New Orleans in 21 hours instead of 23 hours, the present running time. A reduction in time also will be made in the time of other through trains.

The trains will leave, as heretofore, at 12:30 o'clock p.m. each day, arriving at the other terminal at 9:30 o'clock the following morning. This, it was pointed out, will permit any one to arrive in either city and have three hours for transaction of business and enable him to return to the other city without having lost a business day.

Good Sports' Rate Exactly Zero with the Average Man

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I try to be a good sport with the boys," Mona concludes a letter that reveals unpopularity.

Mona does not give me her definition of a good sport, but I have reason to believe she means a free man, independent and bordering a bit on the boisterous. While some of the things she does go against her grain, she says, she does them, anyway, not to appear prudish. Hence the unpopularity.

If there is one thing I would urge girls who want to be popular not to do, it is a "good sport." Be fair and square, and never think of yourselves in that cold term. It has a devastating quality. The fact that your boy is your boy's sweetheart to be a "good sport." That is his role and let him be it. There is too much of the independent, stand-on-your-own-feet meaning to it to appeal to his instinct of protection. You can talk all you want about your equality, but if you want a man to love you talk it in feminine circles, not in public. Not trained to it yet. And we have a saying, "If that while there remains on earth enough of the type to go around they will always succumb to the girl who plays her pretty feminine lures. Don't we see every day the fifty-five "good sport" type of girl being neglected for the one who is smart enough to know that being unlike a man has far more appeal than trying to be an imitation of him?

So, don't jeopardize your chances by misinterpreting the words "good sport" into trying to be a "half fellow well met." It is more or less subtle, but it is the procedure that makes a man feel he has met an attractive person.

Being a real comrade is something else again. Being it, you will neither be too independent nor too assertive—and more popular.
